

Good day,

I just wanted to voice my opinion regarding the 'Do Not Call List'. My privacy is very important to me, as well as my precious family time. I absolutely detest getting calls from people I don't know regarding products or services I did not ask for. I feel it invades my privacy for them to be able to get my phone number, and I feel it takes away from cherished time spent with my family. If I ever wanted the products or services they were offering, I am well aware of how to perform the necessary research to learn more about the wanted product or service. Thank you for reading this.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Pampanin
